Both cite intimidation

Monk, MacDuff resign from health board

by Jerry Grozelle

Intimidation is an effective tool in Haliburton County. It has been used successfully to drive two members from the Acting Health Services Board.

Bev MacDuff and Gord Monk both announced their resignations at last Tuesday's board meeting in the Legion Hall in Haliburton. MacDuff delivered her resignation letter at the end of the regular meeting and Monk's letter of resignation was read by board chair Stuart Baker in Monk's absence.

Both MacDuff and Monk cited intimidation tactics by people who oppose their views on the county's health services as the reason for their resignations.

Monk, who owns and operates funeral homes in both Minden and Bobcaygeon, was accosted in front of a grieving family, at his place of business. That was the last straw.

"I was reasonably able to disregard intimidating threats towards me as a professional by a few individuals who have political aspirations. However, I am no longer able to disregard personal attacks while I am acting in a professional capacity, by several individuals who have been in attendance at my funeral home," Monk said in his letter of resignation.

He expressed his disgust at the tactics of "small-minded politicians and members of the public who should know better".

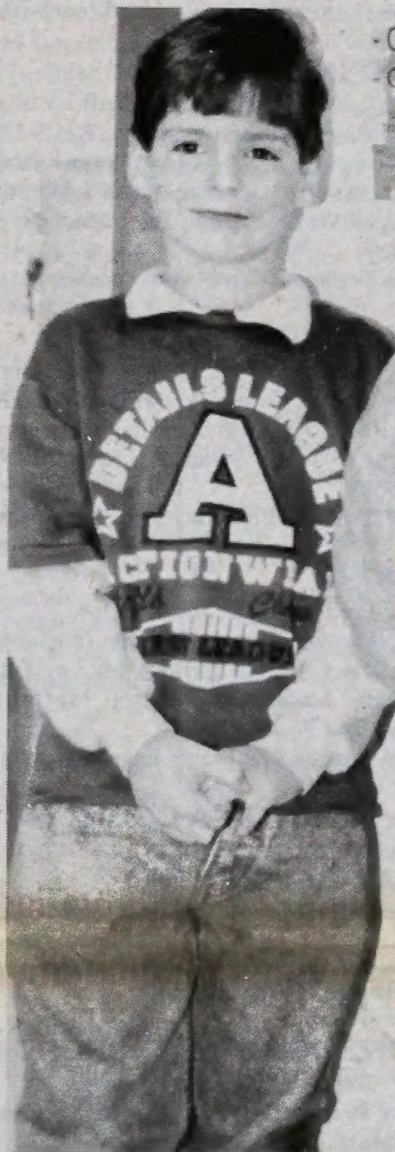

"As a volunteer, nobody deserves that kind of treatment -- to threaten a man's business," Monk said.

MacDuff, who is currently campaigning for re-election as reeve of Glamorgan Township, said that she has been screamed at in public over her motion which was passed by the majority of the board at the October 12 meeting.

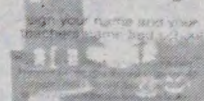

"Should we not be concerned about a health care system that serves as many people as possible," MacDuff asked? "Should we not have compassion and understanding for others? Do we consider our own needs and not those of others?"

MacDuff said that Haliburton Hospital will get its long term care beds as well as the acute care beds to serve the people in the east. The motion also addressed the need for 24-hour health care services in Broc Wilson will be prince of the pumpkin patch this Hallowe'en. The grade two student at Archie Stouffer Elementary School was the winner of a contest at the Minden Valu-mart in which youngsters were asked to guess the weight of the giant pumpkin. Broc's guess of 183 pounds was the winner. Trick or treaters will have little trouble seeing his jack-o-lantern when they visit his house tonight.

Celebrating the best

The community paid tribute to its top scholars October 22 as parents, teachers, fellow students and friends gathered at the HHSS auditorium for the school's annual honours and awards night.

The evening recognized students from all grade levels who had not only excelled in academic achievement, but who had also made a contribution to the school community. HHSS principal Gary Brohman commended the students for their hard work and diligence. He pointed out that the talent that was being honoured that evening was indicative of the dedication and importance the community assigns to education. Brohman said that while the individual students can be proud of their achievements, the county as a whole can also be proud of what these young people have accomplished.

A complete list of the awards and additional photographs of the recipients starts on page 24 of this week's newspaper.

Congratulations again and a thank you to all the business people for their donations to the Kinmount Fair and to all the residents and families who came to and supported the biggest little fair in the province. It was a huge success just because of you and the hard work of the board of directors and the weather.

On October 14, 1994, the Kinmount Agricultural Society officially opened their new office upstairs in the new heritage complex in building #1. Although the building has been opened for over a year, the Board had never used it before.

After the business of the meeting had concluded, champagne and goodies were served and enjoyed by everyone. Thanks to my wife, Pat, who set the whole thing up for the lovely meat, fruit and cheese trays. Everyone appreciated it. Thanks from the Board.

The new office space upstairs will make for a better setting for the Fair Board meetings in the future. There is much more room for everyone.

Thank you again

Meet the Anson, Hindon and Minden candidates

Hospital is a priority

by Jerry Grozelle

Jeanne Anthon says she can provide a strong, positive and progressive voice in the community. With three years experience as a councillor for Anson, Hindon and Minden as well as her other experience, she feels ready to step up to the position of reeve.

"One of my main issues is to make sure that Minden keeps a vital hospital facility," she said. "I know that's not under the control of council but I think that it is a priority issue in this community. I certainly believe council has a strong role to play in that. However the decision goes, Minden is going to have to work very hard to provide an adequate medical service and I think a lot of it is going to have to be generated by the community itself."

A strategic plan for the community is something Anthon says she would work toward.

"I feel this community really needs to sit down and talk about what they want for the future and certainly, the hospital issue is a primary one that would be incorporated into this kind of community discussion so that the people will know what the needs are and what the potential is for health services in this community. Then we can start focusing on what the community can do to enhance whatever Minden has, or at least bring it up to what we feel is basic service required.

"I think the council can serve a very proactive role in pulling the community together on issues like this because there is no other agency ready to do it for us, it seems."

A strategic plan would set very specific goals and council could spearhead a committee to pull together community leaders, industrial leaders, service club leaders and people of all ages to talk about what they want for their community, she said.

"The practical application of that kind of planning is vital to our community," she said.

Anthon says she perceives a fear within the business community that vital services are being enticed away from the municipality.

"There seems to be no organized directive," she said, adding that some business leaders have said that council seems to be sitting back and letting it happen.

"So, I think that's another opportunity for a planning group to stabilize the community we have and ensure that we are at least offering them (business people) what anybody else can offer them. We need this kind of security to ensure our jobs don't evaporate. Hopefully, that kind of long term planning will actually generate a lot of jobs."

Anthon said that one of the issues that has to be revitalized is the matter of an industrial site.

"I know it has been attempted in the past and it came very close to the actual purchase of land," she said. "But things fell apart for a lot of different reasons, as I understand it, and it has been put on a back burner. I don't think it should ever have gone to the back burner. It's probably like a 'field of dreams' ideal -- if you build it, they will come. I don't think there is any guarantee that industry will come, but certainly, industry doesn't want to come to an area that doesn't have a zone already in place. It's too expensive to go through that whole process. I firmly believe it is a worthwhile investment."

Experience is needed

by Jerry Grozelle

There's an old adage "If it ain't broke, don't fix it". That could describe the basics of Bern Berry's platform in the race for the reeve's seat of Anson, Hindon and Minden.

Berry is proud of council's record while he has been a part of it for the past nine years, especially the past four years as reeve. He was deputy-reeve for the first five of those nine years. His second term in office started as deputy-reeve but when reeve Ray Moore was forced to step down because of health problems, Berry moved up to the reeve's chair for the remaining one year of his term of office.

In the past four years, Berry said he has helped to hold the line on taxes. In 1991, the increase in the municipal share of taxes was 2.4 per cent. That percentage has decreased each year for the past four years, to a zero increase in 1994.

He says Minden is just starting to turn around and he wants to continue to be a part of the revitalization process.

"We are in very good shape, economically," he said. "Experience is needed now, more than ever, with even bigger challenges facing us in the future."

He has seen the municipality's reserves increase from $175,000 to more than $1-million. The municipality was able to take full advantage of the infrastructure funds because of those reserves.

"It was nice to have those reserves when the infrastructure funding was made available," he said. "We were able to get in for almost a million dollars for one third of the cost."

He added that when the decisions were made about where to spend the infrastructure funds, the five members of council tried to use those funds to benefit all of the residents of the municipality.

"I think we accomplished that," he said. "It is already being shown with the improvements along the river banks and the tennis courts. Some of the places it isn't being shown are the water and sewer work that was done."

We also received grants for our water well," he said. "We've been looking for that for seven or eight years."

With the water and sewer upgrades, Berry says the municipality is ready for expansion. Another issue that is at the forefront is waste management. Berry would encourage an enterprising company to come forward with some solutions to the mounting waste management problems.

WINNING TEAM

Berry said that the present council has been a winning team and he would have been happy if it could have continued intact for the next term. He credits a good working relationship with an "excellent staff" with keeping the municipal taxes from climbing in these difficult times. He cited the willingness of the staff to work with council under the terms of the Social Contract to "sort out the savings".

"Our affairs are being run correctly," he said. "People are our greatest asset."

He says his philosophy is to be reeve for everybody, not just the squeaky wheels.

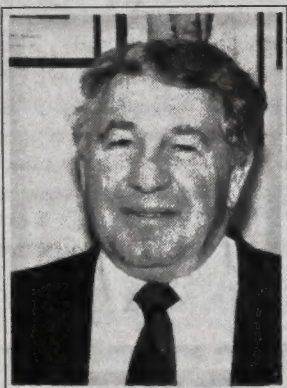

Berry says he recognizes the economic value of recreational activities such as snowmobiling, hunting and fishing to the area.

"We can't afford to lose any of that," he said.

Berry-Anthon spar over attendance at budget meetings

by Andrew Milne

The Anson, Hindon and Minden all-candidates meeting was marked by definite tension between candidates for reeve, Jeanne Anthon and Bern Berry.

Incumbent Berry attacked Anthon in his opening address. Speaking after Anthon, Berry began his statement with the words, "I've been working with Jeanne for three years and I've just now found out what's been bothering her. Too bad she didn't share it with all of us when we were working together."

And later, Berry made much of Anthon's taking a vacation during the budget meetings. Said Berry, "I believe the budget is the most important document council deals with... Several budget meetings are held between March and May, and I am present at them all. I do not take extended winter vacations at this time."

Anthon, however, defended her record, saying that she had spoken with Berry prior to leaving, and he had assured her it wouldn't be a problem. Said Anthon, "Yes I did take a holiday at that time of year. And before I went I made sure with council and staff that it was not poor timing. They said, no, it would not be a problem. And the reeve agreed that the reports were still being handed in, and it would be several weeks bringing them together. And when I came back I understand I had missed very little, and I was very much a part of the budget process."

And later, after the meeting, Anthon told The Times she was sure she had missed little. Said Anthon, "I think I had missed one budget meeting... We ended up having another half-dozen or so."

Berry told The Times later that he hadn't kept track of how many meetings Anthon had actually missed.

Berry also apparently aroused ire in some of the other incumbents running for re-election, when, in answer to a question about the budget, he said that he and councillor Gerald Rome had worked on the budget alone.

Lewis Stevens, running for deputy-reeve, responded, "Of all the statements I guess I'm surprised to find out that in this case our reeve mentioned that he and Jerry (Rome) did the budget. I don't know what the rest of us were doing but obviously we must have been doing something there. I guess I feel a wee bit put down."

Berry told The Times after the meeting he had misinterpreted the question. "They were talking about our last budget," he said, "the zero budget — and we all worked on it. The first two years Jerry and I worked on the budget alone... I feel bad about it and I apologize to all my councillors for it."

In total, nine candidates are running for the five places on the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council, and all of them were at the October 28 meeting. Anthon and Berry are running for the reeve position. Gary Bloor is challenging the incumbent Stevens for the deputy-reeve position. And five candidates are vying for the three councillor positions: Bernie Davis, Mike Kitchemann, Daryl Moore, Grant Plooard and Jerry Rome.

The four candidates competing for the three school board trustee positions — Wally Bunn, Jim Davis, Bryan Kernohan and Wendy Ladurantaye — met earlier in a separate meeting. Davis is the only candidate not currently on the board — Bunn, Kernohan and Ladurantaye are running for re-election.

In comparison with the meeting of the municipal representatives, the trustees' meeting was civil to the point that little, if any divergence was apparent between the candidates. A question from the audience on whether or not the board needs as much administrative staff as it has — in particular the director of education, superintendent of education and business manager whose salaries total $250,000 a year — was answered by all three incumbents in the same, glowing affirmative, and passed over by Davis.

Said Ladurantaye, "A little earlier, when speaking to one of the cottage association meetings, I said that I believe we got a great deal from our administrative staff. And let me say that again."

Many of the questions pertained to rising education taxes and expenses, and the standard answer seemed to be that the Haliburton board is doing what it can, but support from higher levels of government is dwindling.

"The funding," said Kernohan, "has been reduced by 50 percent over the last five years. What that means is the tax burden on the individual taxpayer in Haliburton County has gone up. Our cost per student has gone down. What I think it means is that the Haliburton County Board of Education is attempting to hold the line on costs. However, with regard to the tax burden on the local taxpayer, that will continue to go up so long as Queen's Park decides in its wisdom that this is a rich county."

Said Ladurantaye, "One of the things I've learned over the last few years is that our board is run very lean. When you speak to people from other school boards — when we had the social contract — and you ask how they are going to cut that out, they say oh, well, we're going to get rid of all our consultants."

"We don't have any consultants in Haliburton County," she said.

Election day is November 14.

Anthon favours town hall meetings

ment for the community to have that in place.

Regular town hall meetings are another idea that Anthon is in favour of. She said they would be a good means of getting public input and improving communications between elected officials and taxpayers.

One of the reasons Anthon decided to run for reeve was so she would have a seat on County council.

"Some of the major challenges coming to this area are going to be at the county level," Anthon said. "Difficulties with their budgeting and the reduction of the grants from the provincial government will make the challenge even greater there than at the municipal level.

"Restructuring and sharing of services and expertise are some of the issues I hope to be a part of (as a member of County Council) in the future."

Anthon said she really enjoys working on committees and she looks forward to working on any committees expected of her at both the municipal and county levels.

She has been very active in the Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Associations (FOCA). She was the first female president of the association and the only person to be president for more than one term.

Anthon and her husband (of 33 years) Ted have been permanent residents at their Mountain Lake home for four years. They have cottaged there since 1959. They have two daughters.

Berry says restructuring is coming

Berry is a retired sergeant from the Metro Toronto Police Force. He and his wife Doreen have been married for 38 years. They have three sons and one daughter. Berry retired at age 48 and turned the family's cottage on Minden Lake into a permanent home 11 years ago.

One of Berry's supporters told him that people don't elect politicians, they throw out the ones they don't like. He hopes that is the case since he is confident his record won't give anyone reason to throw him out of office.

"I don't think people are looking to have change just for the sake of change," he said.

If he is re-elected, Berry said he would be interested in running for warden of the county. He thinks reserves are very important and the county has no reserves at this time.

"I want to sit on county council because I think restructuring is going to come. I think it's going to come within the next three years and I want to be a part of it," he said. "I see restructuring into four municipalities. It has to come because of costs."

He added that the two biggest municipalities within the county (Dysart et al and Anson, Hindon and Minden) will be major players in the restructuring process.

Berry doesn't think the county needs an Official Plan at this time. In his opinion, an Official Plan would be just one more layer of bureaucratic red tape in a time when people are already feeling over-governed.

Snowdon ratepayers question land deal

by Andrew Milne

Candidates for the councillor and reeve positions in the Municipality of Snowdon spoke to a packed house at the October 27 all candidates meeting at the Gelert Community Centre.

Present for the meeting (in order of speaking) were Richard Thompson, Frank Woolly, Ross Rigney, Raymond Lymer, Janet Swanton, Trudy Jordan, Russ Duhaime, and George Simmons. Duhaime and Simmons are both running for the post of Reeve. The remaining candidates are all competing for the three councillor positions.

The audience was lively and at times rancorous during the question period that followed the candidates' speeches.

Duhaime had criticized his opponent's stand on the county management committee. Said Duhaime, "The public is not allowed to attend (these meetings). And for years that was where the decisions affecting us and affecting our taxes were made. I bring that to your attention because my opponent George Simmons is in favour of reintroducing the management committee."

Municipal reeves and deputy reeves are also members of county council.

Duhaime was then attacked for his comment during the question period that followed, but neither the hecklers nor the incumbent (who had spoken after Duhaime) ever directly addressed this charge. One speaker from the audience — evidently a supporter of Simmons — did say the meetings haven't been held for a year now, but no-one addressed whether or not Simmons supports reinstating the committee, or what his reasons were if so.

Landfill sites, fire protection, tax increases, roads and a piece of property purchased adjacent to one of the township's dumps dominated much of the rest of the meeting.

One member of the audience asked whether the township had paid too dearly for the land. The Ministry of Environment and Energy (MOEE) had required the township purchase or clean up the property because of materials leaching onto it from an adjacent landfill site.

"I understand you bought that land — the Gunn property — for $85,000," he asked. "Is that right? It was sold two days before that for $50,000, is that right?"

As far as Simmons and the municipal office are concerned, that is exactly right. But, they say, $85,000 is a good price for the land. Said municipal clerk Ernie Hill afterwards, "We had no idea that the price that was paid to the owner was $50,000. All of this took place on a weekend, and I had no access to a registry office to find out what they had paid. When council looked at it — it's a 50 acre parcel with an existing dwelling on it that's fully serviced — they said that under all the circumstances $85,000 is a reasonable price to pay."

The land in question is Lot 21 Concession 13 in the township of Snowdon.

Candidate Woolly was addressed on his stand that the township shouldn't be taking grants from the federal and provincial governments that it couldn't afford.

"I would much rather see the grants," Woolly had said, "the money that the government's giving in all these grants, (go to) pay off the deficit. When we as a country and a province are debt-free, that's the time our standard of living is really going to go up... All our tax dollars, or a great proportion of them, are going to pay off the deficit... It's all our money and it's all our debt, and we've got to pay it."

"I agree with what you're saying," said one member of the audience, "but unless you get the whole of the province of Ontario and Canada to forget the grants one hundred percent at the same time, how or why should Snowdon township not pick up on the grant... instead of our next-door neighbour picking up the grant and they get the benefits?"

"I was talking mainly on principle," said Woolly, "that it would be nice if people stopped looking on grants as a gift."

A number of candidates spoke to the issue of development. Rigney spoke of light and information-oriented industries that could be advantageously run from areas such as Snowdon, due to the low cost of doing business, in contrast with the costs in urban areas.

Swanton spoke briefly, saying it would be among her priorities to make landfill site hours more accessible for working people.

Thompson praised the low taxes in Snowdon and the school systems in the area.

Lymer, the only incumbent running for the councillor positions, spoke about the issue of municipal amalgamation. Said Lymer, "I would like to retain Snowdon's uniqueness and refrain from amalgamation with other municipalities. However, I am in favour of joining the essential services such as fire, police protection and ambulance (services) for all the townships under one county-wide format."

Snowdon currently pays neighbouring municipalities for the use of their fire services.

Simmons said the council would be facing even more pressing economic demands in the coming years, "because the subsidies on our maintenance on our roads and everything else are going to be drying up. The province and the federal government have been telling us for the last year or so to get your house in order because the funding is not there."

...others were less impressed.

Simmons also said he was proud of his record at county council. Said Simmons, "I am proud to be a county representative. And I'll say county, because there's been a lot of times where the reeve has been a municipal representative and has actually destroyed this county."

Duhaime had criticized his opponent for being uncooperative, and for not getting along with his fellow reeves and deputy reeves at the county council.

The deputy-reeve and school board trustee positions in Snowdon were filled by acclamation by the incumbents. Dwain Wruth, will continue as Deputy Reeve while Elsa May Homestead will continue as School Board Trustee.

This member of the audience defended the current Snowdon Township council. "We've always thought they did a pretty good job"....

Board members upset with intimidation tactics

"But what about those people in the southern and western areas," she questioned? What happens to those in a life and death situation when time is of the essence? Do we close our minds and hearts to those people?"

Some of the members of the board have publicly expressed their outrage at such tactics being used against individuals who have volunteered their time and expertise to be a part of the board.

Board member Hugh Nichol appealed to MacDuff to postpone any decision regarding her position on the board until after the coming municipal election. He suggested that someone may be using intimidation tactics in an attempt to fulfil some political agenda.

"The controversy is over," he pointed out.

But MacDuff wouldn't be swayed in her decision. She said that it has got to the point where her husband is being snubbed "and he has nothing to do with it."

Board chair Stuart Baker was aware of Monk's resignation prior to last week's meeting but he was taken by surprise when MacDuff announced her intention to resign.

"We've experienced a loss this evening," he said. "There's a statement here about the community, that is very disturbing."

Baker wondered aloud why, if these people felt so strongly, they didn't apply for a position on the board.

Barb Dawson said that she understood that health issues are very important to everyone. But she couldn't fathom why one or two individuals would be singled out when the decision was that of the majority of the board (in the case of the motion that was passed two weeks earlier, by an 11-3 margin).

Lisa Mercer pointed an accusing finger at The Echo editorial of October 18 concerning the passing of the motion on October 12.

"It was very negative," she said.

Monk was contacted after the meeting and he said that he thought the motion that was passed regarding the location of the acute care beds in Haliburton was "a positive step forward. Hopefully the ministry will respond positively."

Monk concluded by saying that he hoped such intimidation tactics wouldn't deter others from volunteering.

MOTIONS PASSED

The board voted to use the resources of St. Joseph's Hospital and Health Centre's Human Resources department in the recruitment of an executive director. By utilizing St. Joseph's resources, the board will realize a substantial savings in consulting fees. The only expenses will be mileage and meals for personnel to attend meetings in Haliburton County.

Another motion authorized the Recruitment Committee to develop a job description for the executive director position. St. Joseph's will provide resources to help with that task as well.

St. Joseph's Hospital will be responsible for contracting the services of the executive director for the operation of the Haliburton and Minden hospitals.

The recruitment committee of the board has been authorized to go ahead with the search process for the executive director.

A fifth motion dealt with the acquisition of assurances from the Ministry of Health that it will fund the position of executive director for a period of five years.

County Council hears HFOA brief

by Jerry Grozelle

Peter Schleifenbaum and Gary Bull, representing the Haliburton Forest Owners' Association (HFOA), presented their case to County Council October 19, for the reinstatement of the Managed Forest Tax Rebate Program.

Schleifenbaum explained that the program was introduced to correct inequities in the property tax system. He said that forested land is assessed at the same rates as residential, which taxes properties on potential development, rather than actual use.

"The rebate is really a reimbursement of taxes that weren't supposed to be paid in the first place," he explained. Schleifenbaum added that the current rate of taxation far exceeds the sustainable yield of forest land.

Bull, a consultant from Toronto, was hired by the forest owners to conduct a private study. His findings support the HFOA's complaints.

He said that forest owners will lose $8 per acre to taxation without the rebate and even with the rebate they stand to lose $4 per acre by keeping the land in sustainable production.

Some of the long term benefits of sustainable production, as opposed to clearcutting to gain the maximum immediate profit, include: the production of more value-added wood products; enhancement of tourism, recreation and environmental values; the provision of healthier forests for future generations; and the provision of much steadier year-round employment.

Both men were "preaching to the converted", as one council member said.

Forest owners were commended for offering a one-year reprieve on their threat to close their properties to public use.

County Warden Jim McMahon said that a market value assessment based on productivity would seem to be a fairer method of taxing forest products.

Ross Rabjohn, reeve of Sherborne et al, agreed that it would be more equitable to include forest land with agricultural property for the purpose of taxation.

"It shouldn't matter if I'm growing carrots or trees," he said.

The provincial NDP government has shown no interest in negotiating with forest owners. HFOA members are hoping that next year's provincial election will see a change in government, and with it, a change in attitude.

Two members of the Acting Health Services Board resigned Tuesday night. Both mentioned in their letters to the board that they had felt intimidated by the manner in which members of the public approached them concerning their stand on the allocation of health resources in the service area. Other members of the board, during the past few months, have also spoken of the intense pressure their membership on the board has brought to their lives. These volunteers reported that their personal and business lives were disrupted by the outbursts that dogged them.

While we can appreciate that health services is a topic of intense interest and that rational thought can sometimes yield to emotion on an issues such as this, there is no reason whatsoever that individuals who volunteer to serve their community should be subjected to such abuse.

Our community asks a great deal of volunteers. A commitment to, "just one meeting a month" often expands rapidly to any number of additional committee meetings, hours of reading background information or additional paperwork that wasn't mentioned when the request for help was first made. Not only does the community benefit from the hours these volunteers freely donate, these people also bring special skills, training and abilities to the task at hand, asking little in return but an occasional thank you and the respect that should be accorded an individual who has stepped forward to make the community a better place. There is little doubt that, in all sectors, without the service and dedication provided by volunteers, our's would be a much poorer community.

It is unfortunate then, as in this case, that when volunteers do step forward to help the community they find themselves in an intolerable situation and are forced to abandon their efforts on behalf all of us. We are not suggesting (and neither do the volunteers) that points of view are not open to debate. In fact, most people serving the community welcome input from the citizens they represent. However, there is an appropriate time, place and manner for discussing the issues with those involved.

Those who hectored these volunteers into resigning may think they have somehow won a 'victory'. However, there are no victors here; just a community which has lost.

Volunteers

Editor:

As a physiotherapist servicing Haliburton County, I have had the pleasure of instructing two groups of volunteers in "Wheelchair Safety" during the past month - the volunteers at Hyland Crest Home for the Aged and those at Haliburton County Home Support.

These people recognize the importance of the subject matter in terms of client safety. They showed interest, respect, and asked thoughtful questions.

I owe these volunteers my heartfelt thanks. They give generously of themselves and improve the quality of life for so many. The spirit of volunteerism is alive and well in Haliburton County!

Clocks

Editor:

That was an excellent picture and news item in the October 24 edition of The Times about presentation by the Toye family of a pendulum clock for hanging in the old Hindon Hill School when opening for viewing in 1995 at the Minden County Town Museum complex.

Of particular interest to your readers is the fact that this was the original clock from Hindon Hill School. As recent owner of the old clock, the late Earl Toye had is restored to be in good working order and the case refinished. Prior to his recent death it was his wish that this clock be returned to its original location.

Trick or treat safety

When your little "monster" goes trick-or-treating on October 31, Stay Alert...Stay Safe. (SASS) reminds parents and kids to turn up their radar and heed the words of Bert and Gert, the Alert Twins, to always "Stay alert...and stay safe".

Here are some important safety tips from Stay

Alert...Stay Safe, the national street-proofing organization founded in 1987 and funded through the generosity of the Canadian Tire Child Protection Foundation. Parents and kids should discuss these tips to ensure a safe and happy adventure on Halloween night.

* Wear makeup instead of mask so you can see properly.

* Go trick-or-treating with family or friends. Let people know your route!

* An adult should check the treats you collect before you eat them!

* Walk - don't run; and look all ways before crossing the street - trick-or-treat on one side of the street, then the other side!

* Only go to homes with their lights on!

* Don't go anywhere with a stranger!

* If someone invites you alone into a house, say, "No thanks".

* A flashlight will help light your way.

* You'll walk more easily in a short costume.

'April 10: had hair washed'

Can someone please explain why political biographies are best-sellers? Who wants to shell out actual loonies to read what a politician thinks of himself?

Millions of book buyers, apparently. Richard Nixon cranked out six best-selling volumes before he shuffled off to the Big Hold Tank in the sky. Sir Winston Churchill's been dead for three decades but his collected thoughts still sell briskly. Last year's most talked about book in Canada? Trudeau's Memoirs. A best seller in the bookstores of the nation, and for insomniacs, better than a fist full of Valium and a rap in the head with a fish billy.

Nine times out of ten political biographies are boring - and ten times out of ten they're liberally laced with lies.

I prefer the unplanned biographies - the snippets of revelation that politicians sometimes commit to their personal journals in the privacy of their chambers after the working day of false smiles and phoney handshakes is finished. They often reveal human, almost honest disclosure that the authors would do anything this side of initiating nuclear Armageddon to keep secret from the press and ultimately the public.

This, for instance, from the personal diary of a man who gave most of the world nightmares not long ago:

"April 10: Was in dacha - had borscht for lunch. Had a rest in yard, then finished reading some stuff...had hair washed."

The author? Leonid Brezhnev, supreme commander of the USSR for nearly twenty years.

God knows why Brezhnev would commit such banality to paper. Even megalomaniac couldn't imagine that anyone would ever want to read such stuff.

But Leonid was positively lyrical compared to Louis XVI, of France. On July 14, 1789, a social earthquake slammed into Paris and turned French society upside down. Eight thousand enraged citizens stormed the Bastille and liberated the government's prisoners.

The French Revolution, the greatest civil uprising in the history of western Europe, had begun. King Louis XVI was in the process of becoming King Louis the Last. A femme fatale named Madame Guillotine was already pencilling his name on her dance card.

And what do we read in Louis' own handwriting in his diary for July 14, 1789?

Just one word. Rien.

Black'n White

by Arthur Black

As far as Louis was concerned, nothing happened.

Just another boring day at the palace.

Then there's Richard Milhous Nixon. The 37th President of the United States didn't keep a diary. He taped himself instead, which turned out to be even more damning.

Nevertheless he was surrounded by lackeys who did keep notes and diaries. And some of them are more revealing than anything Nixon ever recorded on cassette. Here, for instance, is a note from the files of H.R. Bob Haldeman, Nixon's chief of staff and lead pit pull. It refers to a meeting with the President on May 12, 1971:

The President wants a study done for his own knowledge. The baseball game on WTOP was rained out last night. CBS...then put on a show to fill time. Star of show - square type - name Arch. Hippy son-in-law. This show was total glorification of homosex. Made Arch look bad - homo look good. Is this common on TV? Destruction of civilization to build homos. Made the homos as the most attractive type. Followed by Hee-Haw.

But it ill behooves we Canucks to snicker at the poverty of other nations' politicians. Canada after all had William Lyon Mackenzie King, Canada's longest serving prime minister and a man who had regular chats with his dog, slipped down to the seedy streets of Ottawa on dark night to "counsel" prostitutes, and made conference calls to his dead mother through his shaving mirror.

Come to think of it, that make old WLM a helluva lot more interesting than Brezhnev, Louis XVI or Tricky Dick.

Meet the Anson, Hindon and Minden candidates

Two vie for deputy reeve's position

Gary Bloor

Gary Bloor made it a two-way race for the deputy-reeve position in Anson, Hindon and Minden when he declared his candidacy recently.

Bloor brings some experience in municipal politics with him. He was an alderman (councillor) in the City of York from 1982 to 1988 where he served on various committees, including hospital and library boards, among others. He moved to Minden in 1989.

Bloor says one of the reasons he decided to run for deputy-reeve is his frustration at the ineffectiveness of the Community Advisory Committee of St. Joseph's Hospital, of which he is a member.

Now that the decision has been made that the acute care beds should go to Haliburton Hospital, "I want to make sure we keep 24 hour service here," he said. "I think I could be a little more vocal as deputy-reeve."

"I love it here," he said. "We moved up here in '89 and I just want to be able to participate and help lead the community. I want to spend time on the council and help direct the future of the community."

Bloor is the chairman of the Minden Area Business Association and he was on the executive of Minden Minor Hockey.

Landfill and recycling are among the issues Bloor is concerned about. He thinks there isn't enough recycling.

Another concern is forest management.

"Forest management is a very serious issue," he said. "It cuts right into our tourism, with the snowmobilers, cross country skiers and hikers. That has to be faced."

Bloor added that the provincial government has to be shown that it is wrong to discontinue the Managed Forest Tax Rebate Program.

Bloor's only criticism of the current council is that "they've been very quiet on the hospital situation."

He says he thinks council has not been active enough or forceful enough.

"We've got good businesses up here and they've had a good summer and they need all the support they can get from council," he said.

Bloor has been an ambulance officer for 23 years and he is the owner of Minden Taxi.

"I've got a business at stake here," he said. "I'm not going to say I'd hold the line on taxes but I'd sure as heck keep them as low as possible."

Lewis Stevens

Lewis Stevens is hoping to start his third term on Anson, Hindon and Minden Council with the coming term. Stevens served as councillor for three years before stepping up to the deputy-reeve's chair for this past term.

He owns and operates Lewis Stevens' Stop 35 Restaurant in Minden with his wife Jean. He has lived in the Minden area all his life.

As a member of county council, Stevens has served as County Roads chairman, which includes property and railway corridors.

Some of the issues that will require the attention of council over the next three years include:

"Minden itself is doing pretty good as far as construction is concerned," he said.

Stevens said that the major things, like the fire department, sewer and water, arena and municipal building are all under control.

The Ministry of Natural Resources' fish population concerns will be up again for a lot of deliberation. Gun controls are another area of concern for the deputy-reeve candidate. He feels that fishing and hunting have a major impact on the economy, especially in a tourism oriented county like Haliburton.

"That's something we're going to have to keep eagle eyes on," he said.

Stevens said that he's not convinced that further controls are the answer to the problem of violence in society. He said that councils can have input by passing on information that is provided by the people of the county to government personnel who will be making the decisions.

Forestry tax rebates are another major concern Stevens says must be addressed within the next year.

"The landowners have given us a reprieve," he said. But that's only for a short time. We're going to have to keep our ears to the public and see how it is that they would like to see that handled. We have to make sure we get our input into the final decision making."

"I think there is a lot of input that councils can make from what they hear from the people

"I've served on all committees at one time or another, without exception," Stevens said.

Stevens says there has to be a some development to make sure people have a reasonable chance to find employment in the area. But he also stressed that at the same time, we have to be sensitive to the environment.

"We have to look after our lakes and waterways and at the same time provide reasonable assessment and reasonable service in the area to make sure that our economy moves ahead," Stevens said.

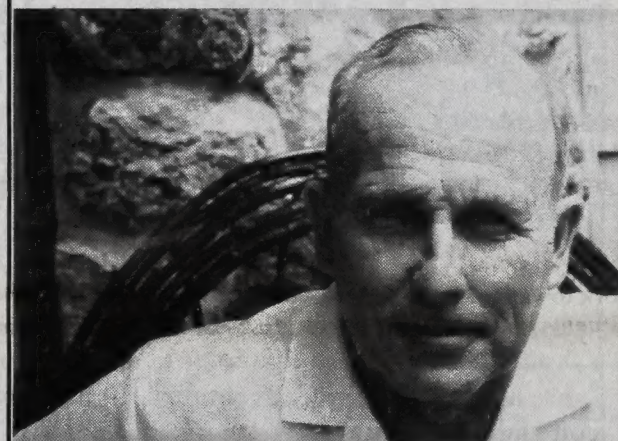

He would like to see more programs for youths and better utilization of the programs that are available.

With the large population of seniors in the area, Stevens says it is imperative to get the hospital situation "straightened around." He said that the Health Services Board has the mandate to make the decisions, but he feels that it is council's responsibility to provide input that reflects the wishes of the people of the municipality.

Stevens predicts a rough three years for the next council. He expects further downloading from the upper levels of government. But in spite of that, he says the taxpayers must have a reprieve for the next three years. To do that, he says the municipality will have to come down with a budget decrease. He is proud to have been part of a council that negotiated a zero increase budget for 1994 and he hopes to be part of a council that will be responsible for a reduction in the municipal tax share in the coming years.

Meet the Anson, Hindon and Minden candidates

Councillor candidates present a variety of positions

Bernie Davis

Bernie Davis, candidate for councillor of Anson, Hindon and Minden, says people need to have more trust in all levels of government, starting at the municipal level. This is her first time running for office.

Davis has been a resident of the Minden area for 26 years. She has been a teacher at Archie Stouffer Elementary School all of that time.

"I'm not an issue-oriented person at the moment," she said. "I do like to deal with issues though. I don't back away from issues."

Davis includes among her strengths, independent thinking, a willingness to listen and speak her mind (even if it may not be a popular stance).

"I think I could be a valuable member of a team by bringing those attributes

She stressed that she is not a puppet.

"I'm not running for popularity," she said. "I intend to speak out, even if it's not popular. My track record is that I don't compromise integrity for personal gain."

Davis added that she won't be drawn into playing political games.

For economic reasons, the county needs to look at restructuring she says, adding that trust will have to be a vital ingredient in that restructuring process.

"It needs to be built on trust," she said.

If she is elected, Davis says she will work toward earning the trust of the constituents and other politicians alike.

Mike Kitcheman

Mike Kitcheman says, if elected, he plans to bring pressure to bear on the different levels of government in the county to influence our reeves and deputy-reeves, when they are at county council to try and get things moving from the bottom.

Kitcheman is running for one of the councillors' seats in Anson, Hindon and Minden. He ran unsuccessfully for a school board trustee seat in the last municipal election and for council a few months after moving to the Minden area in 1982.

Three main issues are at the forefront of Kitcheman's election platform. The first is employment and development. Second is accountability to the taxpayers of the municipality and third is open government.

Kitcheman has been an employment counsellor for Sir Sandford Fleming College in Haliburton for seven years. He has been a resident of the area for more than 12 years.

"I'm a firm believer in open government," he said. "All meetings should be open to the public and the only things that should be discussed in private are personnel matters. Everything should be open for public input."

On the topic of accountability, Kitcheman said that any municipal expenditures of large sums of money should be subject to at least some public input.

"The public should be made more aware of what's going on," he said, referring to the spending of large sums of public money on such things as expansions.

"We need to encourage and promote small business," he said. "But, not at the expense of the environment."

He says he has some ideas that would reduce the amount of waste produced and make some money from recycled materials. His preference would be for a private company to set up a recycling depot in the county.

"We're not only shipping our recyclables out of the county, we're also shipping out the jobs," he said. "I feel if we could get a recycling depot going, within one or two years I'll bet it would be employing 10 people and I'll bet it would spread from Haliburton County because there are no other recycling depots closer than Muskoka and Bracebridge or Peterborough."

Kitcheman also thinks a wood pellet manufacturing plant which, produces pellets for wood stoves, would be a viable industry for the area, one that would be "in balance with the natural environment."

Daryl Moore

Daryl Moore says he's not displeased in any way with the performance of the current council of Anson, Hindon and Minden but he is confident that his progressive thinking would be an asset to the municipality.

Moore has demonstrated his leadership qualities as a member of the Lions Club. He has served as Zone chairman, looking after seven clubs and Region chairman, with 12 clubs.

"I think the main issue that we have right now is our hospital," Moore said. "I don't think they (council) should stop trying. As long as they haven't pulled it out of here, there's always a glimmer of hope. We've got to do what we can to keep our hospital here."

On another front, Moore says the cottagers, resort owners, businesses and residents have to be encouraged to work together to bolster the economy by taking advantage of tourism.

He says the seniors of the area have a lot to offer in the form of expertise and the community should be taking better advantage of that expertise and experience.

"They've got so much knowledge out there and all we have to do is ask and most of them will help out," Moore said. "They are the backbone of our community."

The area needs something to keep the young people here, Moore says.

"I'd like to see us try to get some light industry here if we can," he said. "Possibly even have our own industrial plaza. I think we should try to create some jobs to keep some of the young people here. It's terrible when kids grow up here and they have to leave town just to have a job."

He added that Minden has a tremendous potential for growth.

"We need to have some people on council who are willing to go for the gusto," he said.

Moore says it is council's responsibility to maintain a balanced budget.

Moore moved to Minden from Gravenhurst in 1989. He was involved with minor hockey and served as trainer for the junior team there. He was also a member of the volunteer fire department.

He has served on the board of directors of the Lions Camp Kirk, a camp for learning disabled children in Kirkfield.

Moore has received, among others, the top two awards that are presented by the Lions club. Last year, when he was president of the Minden chapter, he was presented with the Judge Brian Stephenson Award and early last year, along with five other members of the club, he received the Melvin Jones Fellowship Award, which is the highest international award presented by the Lions Club.

Moore runs the new Bowling Centre in Minden and he also has a construction company.

"I'm not a yes-man and never have been. I will vote my conscience on what's best for the community. If I'm elected, I'll do the best I can," Moore promised.

Grant Plooard

Three years of municipal politics hasn't scared Grant Plooard off. In his term as councillor for Anson, Hindon and Minden, Plooard feels there have been many accomplishments, like holding municipal taxes to the bare minimum and taking advantage of infrastructure funds for a variety of local improvements. He also points to the new community well and pumphouse, the repaving of Main Street South, the purchase of two newer fire trucks, lowered speed limit on Highway 35 through Minden and the defeat of Market Value Assessment as accomplishments of the current council.

He says he hopes to continue to work with those who are dedicated to keeping reasonable hospital facilities in Minden.

Development and its accompanying job creation in the area are also among the issues that he says need to be explored.

"I'd still like to see an industrial Park in Minden," he said.

Plooard added that he would also like to see sensible fish and wildlife management, encouragement of tourism, improved management of recycling and landfill facilities and keeping the lid on taxes to the rate of inflation or below.

An outdoorsman himself, Plooard is concerned about such issues as the Ministry of Natural Resources' trout management proposals, the Haliburton Forest Owners' Association's fight to reinstate the Managed Forest Tax Rebate Program and restrictive firearms regulations.

He says he is looking forward to the time when the walking trail along the marshy area from the museum complex past the community centre is completed.

Plooard is retired from a printing and typesetting business in Toronto. He moved to the Minden area in 1986 and decided to run for AHM council in 1991.

Jerry Rome

Jerry Rome hopes to have the opportunity to build on what Anson, Hindon and Minden council has done over the past three years. Rome is seeking re-election as councillor of the municipality for his second term on November 14.

"What I was hoping to be able to do is to carry on as we have -- maintaining our rate of taxation at as low a level as possible, he said. "We did manage to lower it each of the past three years."

One of the accomplishments the current council can be proud of, according to Rome, is the completion of the new community well for Minden during the past term of office.

"We now have all the bills in and paid for," he said. "We have no debt on that new well, and now that it is there, we can permit new development. We were actually shut down for a while because of a lack of water."

During the past three years, Rome has been the chair of the Public Utilities Committee. He was also the vice-chair of the Roads Committee and he was chair of the Cemetery Board. Changes in government regulations regarding the latter meant that the board had to virtually rewrite all of the cemetery by-laws.

Rome's expertise in finance has proved to be a valuable asset to the municipality. He was in the banking business for 40 years before taking an early retirement package four years ago. The last 13 years of his career were spent at the Minden branch of the CIBC as manager.

"We have managed reasonably well with the public finances," he said modestly. "We have managed to keep the taxes to a very low increase each year; in fact no increase this year. And still, we've added over $100,000 each year to the reserve accounts."

With those reserve accounts, the municipality has been able to take advantage of the federal and provincial infrastructure funding.

"If we didn't have those reserves, we wouldn't be able to do the things we're doing right now," he said.

Rome says he would like to see modest growth in Minden. But he is cautious when it comes to industrial growth. Given the current Ministry of Environment regulations he can foresee some difficulty in establishing an industrial park here.

"It would be an interesting topic to look at, though," he said.

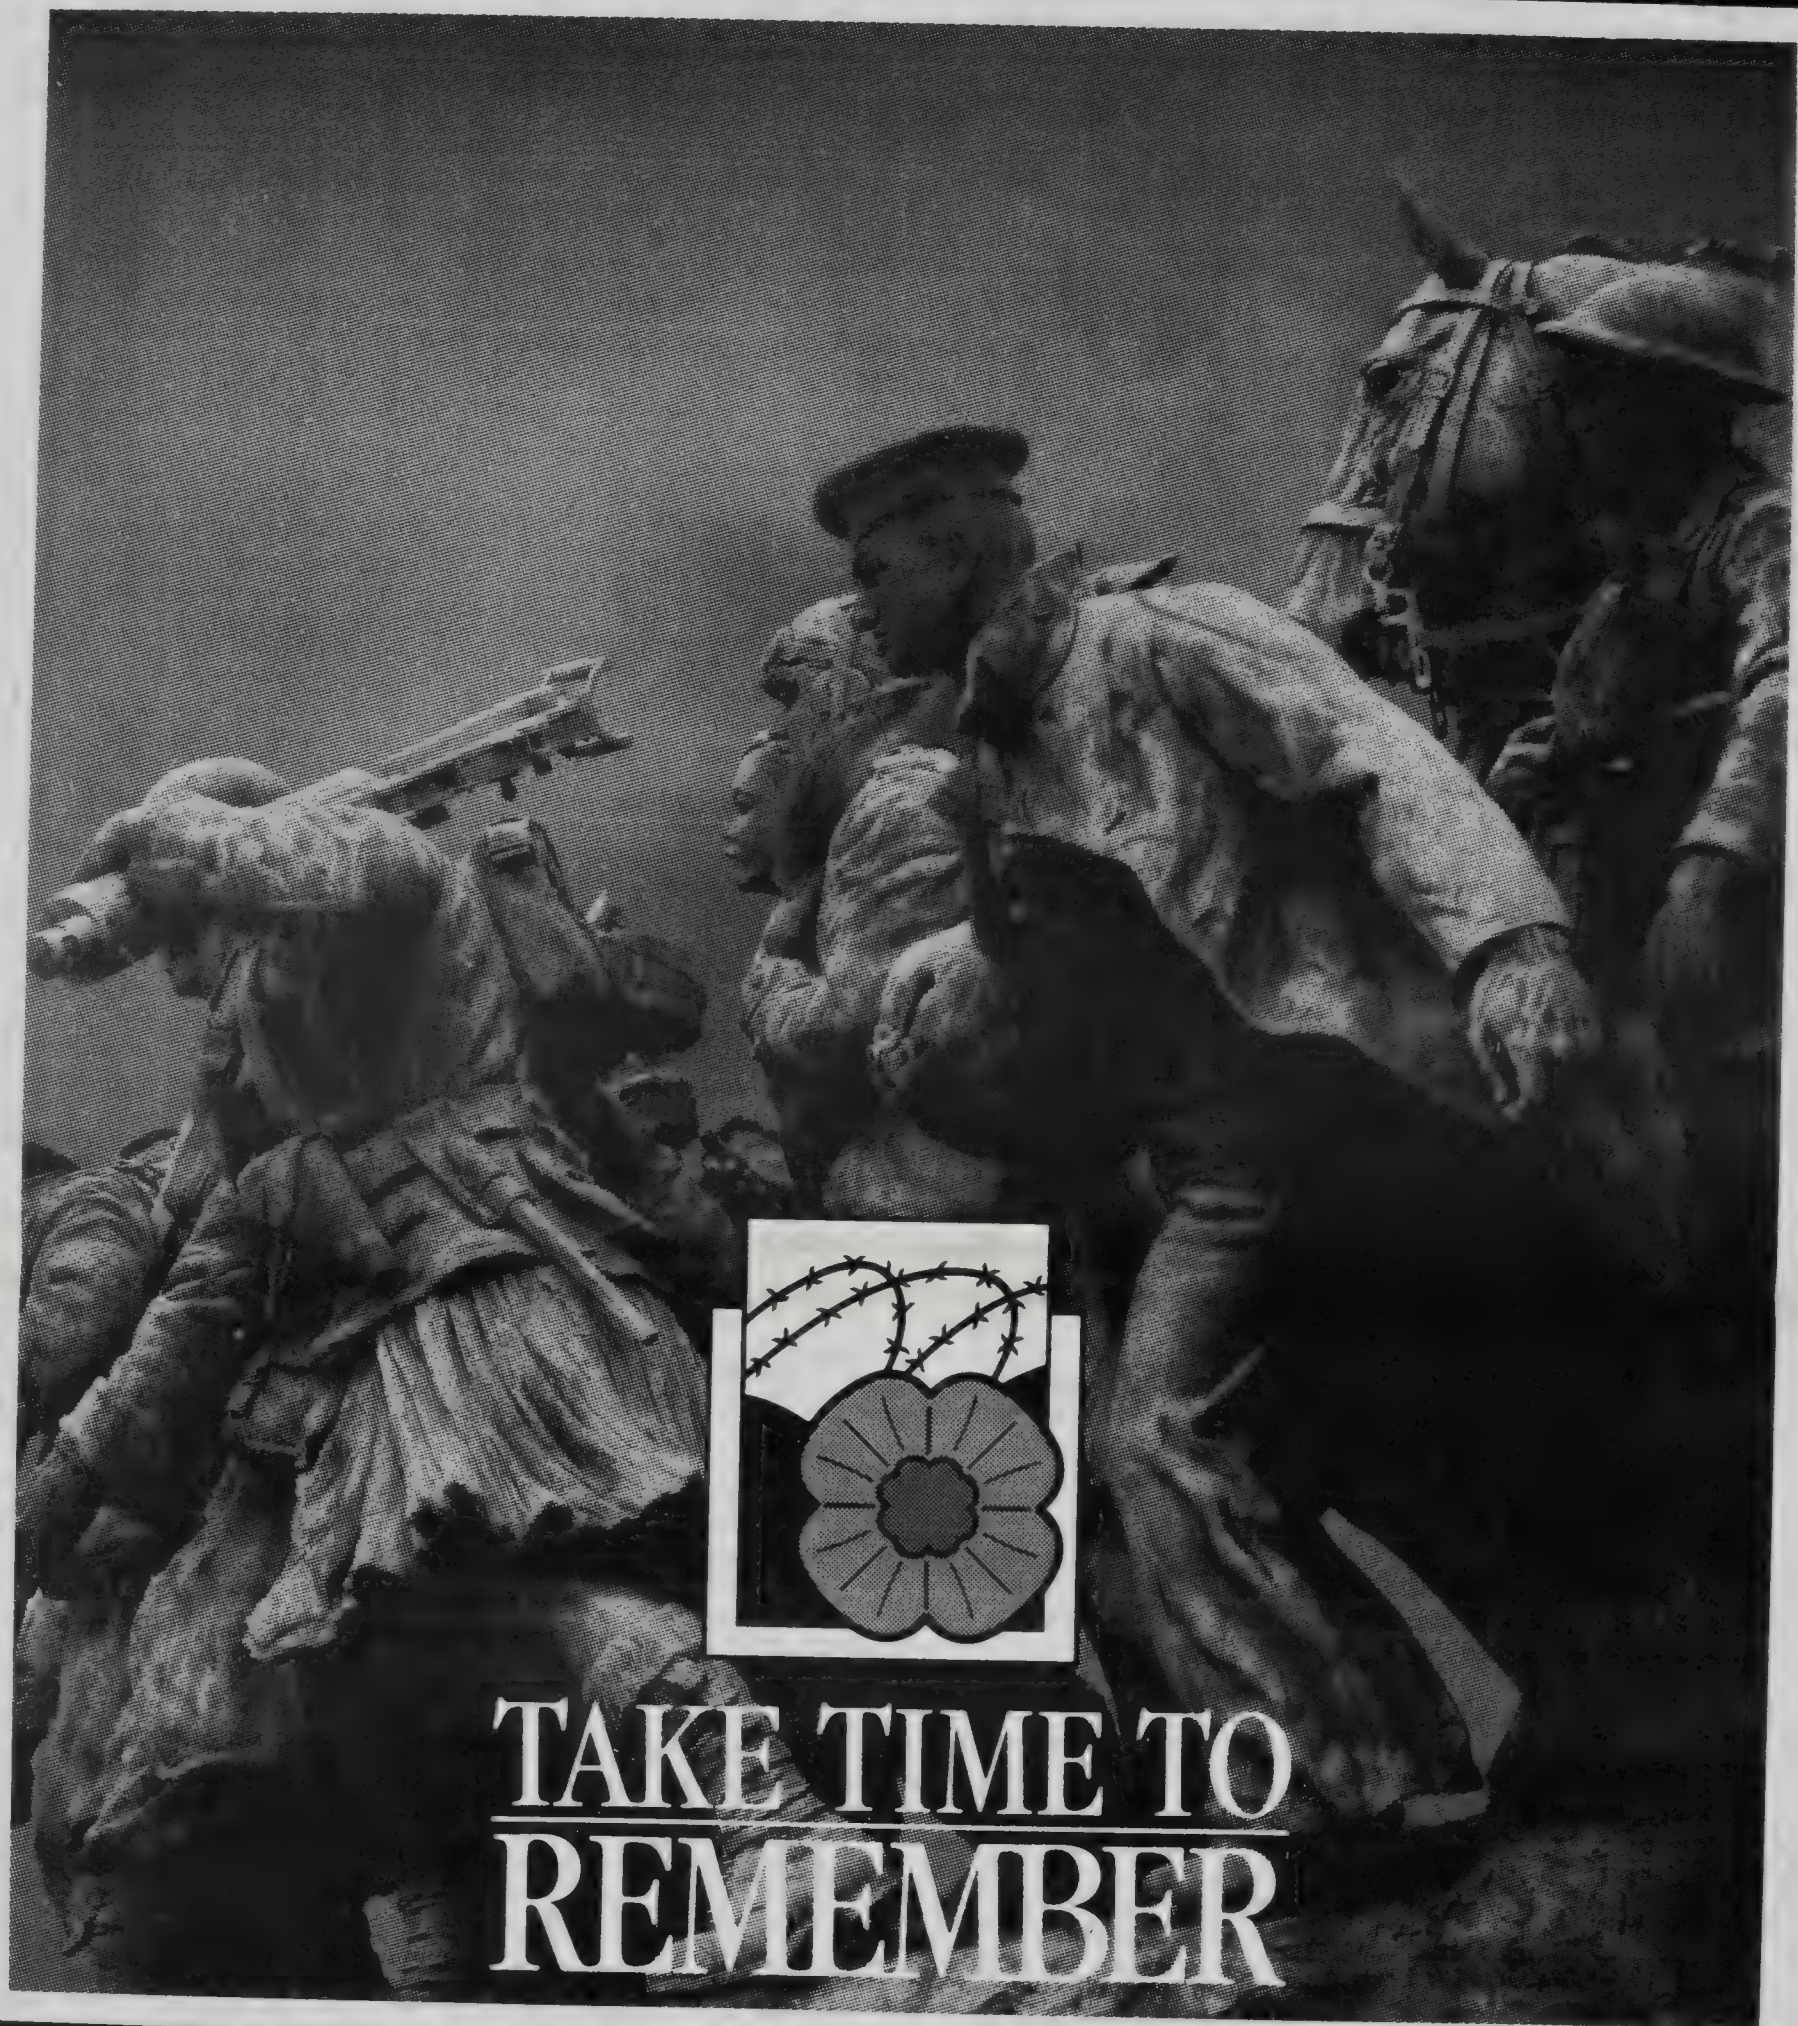

Rome is a past president of the Minden Rotary Club and the current president of the Staunworth Non-Profit Housing Board. He is also on the executive of the Haliburton County Home Support Services.

Midget A Monarchs undefeated in last two games

by Jerry Grozelle

A tie and a win were added to Minden's OMHA midget Monarchs' record on October 22 and 24.

On the 22nd, the Monarchs played host to Manvers and the two teams battled to a 2-2 deadlock.

Minden got on the board first with a goal by Curtis Fielding. Jeff Wray assisted.

Manvers evened the score with 49 seconds left in the first period and the score remained at 1-1 throughout the second and into the third.

The visitors went ahead 2-1 at the 4:23 mark of the third. It took the Monarchs just 17 seconds to get back on even terms.

Neither team was able to get the puck past the opposing goaltender for the rest of the game, so they settled for the tie.

Minden coach Scott Nesbitt said his team's defense played really well and he singled out goaltender Brock Glendenning for his outstanding performance between the pipes.

Last Monday evening, the Monarchs went to Little Britain to take on the Mariposa squad. The Minden boys came home with a hard fought 3-2 win.

Dennis Woods opened the scoring for Minden just over four minutes after the opening faceoff. Tom Bagshaw and Dave Raback combined to set up the go-ahead goal. A minute later, Mariposa was back on even terms and the first period ended with the score knotted at one apiece.

Less than four minutes into the middle frame, Raback put Minden in front again. Jackie Morrison assisted. Mariposa tied the game again with 5:54 left in the period but a minute and a half later Morrison notched what proved to be the game winner on an unassisted effort.

The third frame was scoreless as the Monarchs held on for the win.

Glendenning had another outstanding game in the Minden net.

Minden Badminton Club back in action at ASES

by Jerry Grozelle

The Minden Badminton Club is back in action after a year's inactivity. The club was forced to take last year off because of the renovations to Archie Stouffer Elementary School. With last season's exception, the club has been operating since 1977.

Bruna Foran said the club is basically for adults although the membership typically ranges from late teens to seniors over 70 years of age.

"It is strictly a recreational league," Foran said.

The use of the gym at ASES is provided from 7 to 10 p.m. every Monday evening.

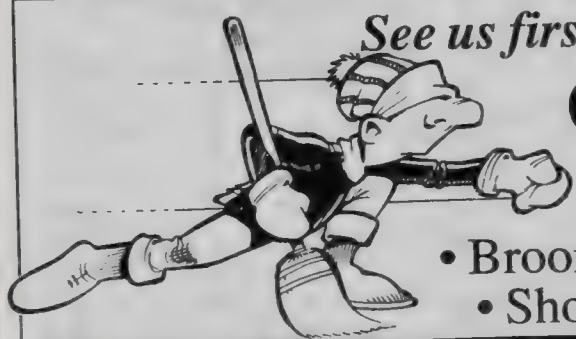

"There is no charge to join," she added. "Just bring your racquet and shoes."

The club has had as many as 100 participants throughout a single season. For more information anyone interested may call Brunna Foran at 286-2301 or Darlene Box at 489-3011.

Friendly competition: Michelle Gartshore returns a serve during last Monday's Minden Badminton Club play at the Archie Stouffer Elementary School gymnasium.

Westside, Times, Stamp winners in MMHA competition

by Jerry Grozelle

Westside 4, Home Hardware 2

Monty Miscio scored two of Westside Jug City's goals leading his team to a 4-2 win over Home Hardware in Minden Men's Hockey Association play on October 24.

Dave Ross opened the scoring for Westside and Miscio made it 2-0 before the Home Hardware squad got on the scoreboard. Kim Colliss was the marksman on the first Home goal. Before the first half was over Kent Taylor netted the equalizer.

Westside kept the opposition corralled for the second half while adding two more to its tally. Scott Danilko notched the equalizer and Miscio added an insurance goal.

Harold Cowan picked up a pair of assists for the winners, with Dave Rogers, Dave Ross and Andy Campbell notching one each.

THE TIMES 5, KDD 2

The Times scored first and never relinquished the lead during the second game of the night on the way to a 5-2 win over Kountry Double D.

Paul Mayo scored the first two goals for The Times, both set up by Ron May. Charlie Teljeur replied with one for KDD before the end of the first half. Ben Manuge and Rob Adams assisted.

May netted his first of two for The Times in the second half. Mayo got the helper on that one. Mark Thompson made it 4-1, from Jeff Howe and Steve Crowe before John Teljeur got the second KDD marker. Manuge got his second assist of the game on Teljeur's goal.

May rounded out the scoring for The Times on a setup from Crowe and Doug Schell.

STAMP 4, HARTWICK 2

The evening's 10 o'clock game saw the Hartwick Construction crew score two in a row. But Sid Stamp Fuels notched two before and two after to earn the 4-2 win.

Eldon Bull got things rolling for the Stamp team, scoring the first two goals. Tom Haley and Trini Elias assisted on the first one and the second was a solo effort.

Gord Wood scored the first Hartwick goal, from Clarke Craig and Shane Yateman. Yateman's unassisted goal tied the score at two and that's how the first half ended.

Gary Harrison scored the first of Stamp's unanswered goals in the second half. Boomer Stamp assisted on both of the second-half goals and single assists went to Dave Dollo and Harrison.

Tyke A Monarchs find winning combination

by Jerry Grozelle

The Minden tyke A Monarchs have found their scoring punch.

The Monarchs played host to the Bobcaygeon team on October 22. The outcome was different than previous games this season. The Monarchs dominated the opposition, skating to an 8-1 victory; the team's first of the season.

Nicky Wallace and Cody Mills scored one goal apiece in the first period of the game to give the Monarchs a 2-0 advantage. For Mills, the goal was a milestone. This is his second season on the team and it was his first goal. As it turned out, Mills' goal was the game winner.

Zachary Joanu put the Monarchs in front 3-0 less than a minute and a half into the second period, converting a pass from Mills. Bobcaygeon got its only goal of the game on Minden netminder Kody Smith a few seconds later, but the Monarchs came back with a vengeance, scoring two more goals before the end of the middle frame. Wallace got his second of the game, from Joanu and Jesse Heming and Sean Keaney notched the fifth Minden, from Aaron Keaney and Sheri Walker.

Three unanswered markers were added to the Minden tally in the third. Joanu netted his second on a setup from Jonathan Petch; Sean Keaney potted his second, with assists going to Aaron Keaney and Wallace; and Aaron Keaney scored the last goal of the game with one second showing on the clock, with Petch assisting.

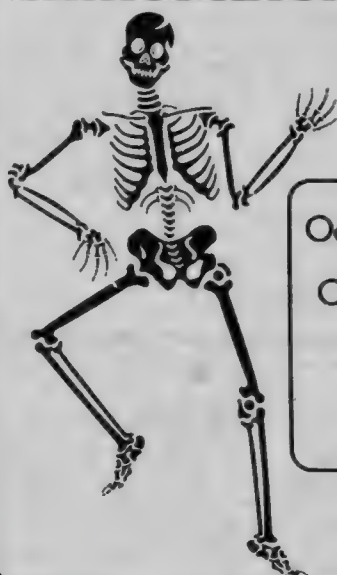

A game that was scheduled for 3 p.m. the same day in Haliburton was cancelled.

The Minden tyke A Monarchs were slated to play host to Beaverton on October 29. They will play in Wilberforce this Saturday at 12:30 p.m. and next Monday, November 7 at 6 p.m. in Bobcaygeon. The next home game will be against Bobcaygeon on Sunday, November 13. Opening faceoff will be at 5 p.m.

Atom A Monarchs win, lose and tie in three weekend hockey games

by Jerry Grozelle

In three games over the October 21-23 weekend, the Minden Monarchs OMHA atom hockey team won a game, lost one and tied one.

MINDEN 3, WOODVILLE 2

The Monarchs got off to a good start by edging the home team 3-2 in Woodville on the Friday night.

Woodville jumped to an early lead with a goal at the 2:41 mark of the first period. Kent Greer scored the tying goal less than two minutes later on an unassisted effort. Thirty-four seconds after that, Minden took over the lead when Ashley Pettes scored on a setup from Andy Kinsman.

Mark Hamilton added an unassisted marker to the Minden tally in the second, to give the Monarchs a 3-1 advantage.

Woodville got one back in the third but that's as close as the home team would get, as Minden held on for the win.

FENELON 6, MINDEN 4

The next day, the Fenelon Falls team was in Minden to take on the Monarchs. One good period for Fenelon salted the game away for the visitors. Fenelon scored five goals in the middle frame on the way to a 6-4 win.

The Monarchs scored the lone goal of the first period. Ben Carpenter was the sniper, assisted by Ashley Pettes.

Pettes got Minden's only goal of the second period, with Mark Hamilton assisting. At the end of two, Fenelon was up by a 5-2 count.

Kasepchuk leads bantam Bs to first win

by Jerry Grozelle

A pair of goals by Jason Kasepchuk led the Minden bantam B Monarchs to their first win in three games last Wednesday in Manvers.

Kirk Smith opened the scoring for Minden with the only goal of the first period. Curtis Barry and Steve Hutchinson assisted.

Kasepchuk made it 2-0 with an unassisted goal in the middle frame.

Manvers rallied with two goals early in the third to tie the game.

Kasepchuk's second goal, with 5:43 left in the game, proved to be the winner as the Monarchs held on for the 3-2 victory. It was also unassisted.

Four days earlier the bantam B Monarchs went to Sunderland for a game. They didn't do as well against the host team there, giving up a 5-2 decision.

Curtis Barry and Matt Cheeseman were the Minden sharpshooters in Sunderland. Kasepchuk set up both Minden goals.

The Monarchs played host to Manvers on Saturday. Their next game is at home this coming Saturday when they will take on Ops. Start time is 6 p.m. They will go to Cannington Sunday for a 9 p.m. game.

Josh Shaw closed the gap to 5-3 early in the second. Jamie Colliss and Kent Greer assisted on that one. But Fenelon rebounded with goal number six just 13 seconds later. A minute and a half after that, Shaw notched his second of the period, from Andy Kinsman and the Monarchs were down by two again. But Fenelon held the Monarchs off the scoreboard for the rest of the game to preserve the 6-4 win.

MINDEN 6, FENELON 6

A rematch in Fenelon Falls the next day saw the two teams battle to a 6-6 draw.

Fenelon got on the board first, but Jamie Colliss replied for the Monarchs with 3:01 left in the period. Shaw assisted. The score remained deadlocked at one apiece until the final minute of the first period. With 39 seconds left, Fenelon scored to take a 2-1 lead into the second.

The home side opened up a 4-1 lead by the middle of the second. Shaw cut the Fenelon lead to 4-2 with a Minden goal with 1:48 left in the frame. Colliss assisted. Fenelon got that one back 42 seconds later. But the Monarchs didn't give up. They kept pressing and with one second left in the period, Kinsman scored on a setup from Hamilton and the frame ended with the home side in front by a 5-3 count.

The Monarchs carried the momentum into the third. Shaw scored twice in the first two minutes of the last period, drawing Minden even with the home team. Trevor Woods picked up an assist on one of those goals.

Fenelon went ahead 6-5 with 5:47 left in the game and it looked as though Minden would come out on the short end of the score for the second day in a row as the clock ticked down the last several seconds of the game. But, Kent Greer salvaged a tie for the Monarchs when he scored an unassisted goal with just 10 seconds left in the game.

The Monarchs were scheduled to play two games this past weekend. Their next home game will be this coming Saturday at 2 p.m. against Woodville.

Weldon upsets Redmen in final

by Walter Tose

The thrill of victory and the agony of defeat, but such is sport, especially soccer!

The senior boys soccer team at HHSS finished the regular season undefeated, but could not prevail against the second place finishers, I.E. Weldon, in the championship game last Tuesday in Haliburton.

The senior Redmen lost 3-0 to a well disciplined and much improved Weldon team in a game that was much closer than indicated in the score. Unfortunately, the Redmen made three costly mistakes in their own end early in the game and the Weldon forwards capitalized to lead 3-0 at the half. To their credit, the Redmen never gave up and had several good scoring chances in the second half. Roberto Guerra made some key saves in goal to keep the game within reach, but it seemed clear that luck was not with the Redmen.

Jonathan Bishop just missed on a shot that surely would have given the team the spark it needed. Rich Simmons just missed the open corner on a header and Jay Corby had a clear shot on goal which went just wide.

The senior redmen finished the season with a record of five wins, one loss and one tie -- an excellent record, especially considering this was supposed to be a building year.

Congratulations to all members of the team in an excellent season. The team consisted of Roberto Guerra, Ryan Goodall, Mike Ellis, Brandon Hatfield, Mark Hughes, Jon Hebert, Mike Morrison, Jonathan Bishop, Nathan Gibbons, Scott Bacon, Jamie Thivierge, Rich Simmons, Jay Corby and Jim O'Neill.

MNR seeks public's help

The Ministry of Natural Resources needs your help to solve a crime against nature.

During the afternoon of Tuesday, October 25, an adult cow moose was found dead 200 metres east of Eagle Lake Road 2, several kilometres south of the village of Eagle Lake. The moose had been shot and abandoned on the edge of a pond near an Ontario Hydro transmission line.

It has been determined that the moose was shot on the morning of the 25th. Conservation officers with the ministry in Minden believe that whoever shot the moose was not licensed to hunt cow moose and abandoned it upon discovering that they had shot a cow instead of a calf. Several leads in this case have proved inconclusive so far.

With the help of local citizens, the conservation officers were able to salvage the meat before it spoiled.

Shooting game without the proper licence and leaving the meat of game to go to waste are poaching offenses. Poachers are thoughtless, selfish individuals who are stealing the natural resources which belong to everyone.

If you have any knowledge or information on this shooting or any other poaching activity, please contact the Ministry of Natural Resources at 286-1521 or call Crime Stoppers toll free at 1-800-563-8477. Crime Stoppers pays cash for information which leads to the apprehension and successful conviction of offenders in court.

Meet the Dysart et al candidates

Dysart hopefuls provide a variety of options

The Times spoke briefly with each of the candidates in each of the four wards of the Municipality of Dysart, as well as to candidates for the school board trustee positions. Synopses of their backgrounds and intended policies follow. Candidates for each ward are listed alphabetically by surname.

Interviews for the deputy reeve positions were dealt with in separate articles last week. See the October 24 Times, pages 3-5. The position of reeve has been filled by acclamation by Murray Fearrey.

Ward One

Ward one consists of Haliburton Village.

Running in ward one in the Dysart election are Peter Curry, Cecil Winter, and Wayne B. Wood. Laurie Bonfield, councillor for the ward on the outgoing council, is not running for re-election.

Curry has never run for municipal office before, though both his father and grandfather have served as Reeves in Dysart. He is a land developer, involved in logging and has been in the automobile business for twenty years. He has been a member of the Rotary Club for 17 years and was president in 1975.

"I've lived in the community for 49 years," says Curry, "I've basically been in business or lived in ward one for all my life, so I just feel an obligation to give something back... I feel as if I can contribute because of the experience I've had in business."

"I feel that the staff we have, that look after the technical parts of it, run the municipality very well," he continues. "I think what they need is some common sense approaches to new ideas and new problems that will come up in the future... Trying to create jobs is one of the biggest things."

Winter has never served in an elected office before. He did, however work for the municipality from 1963 to 1993 as a bylaw enforcement officer. He has also assisted with minor hockey, and has done volunteer work for the fire department and the ambulance service. Now retired, he is offering his experience to the ratepayers.

"I had experiences with council all the time that I was in bylaw enforcement and I attended each meeting," he says.

"I have a number of interests," he says, "a number of things I'd like to see done in town. We need some money spent in town, some streets repaired... I have the whole municipality at heart but I think we should have some money spent in town."

"We have the sewer line coming in," he says, "and they say that at some point we'll need some extensions around town. We have to do first things first of course."

"I have no axes to grind," he says. "I'm going in there on my experience with the municipality. I hope that I can help them out and give them some suggestions, some ideas."

Wood was township clerk for more than 29 years before retiring in 1988. He has also served on the cemetery board and recreation committee.

"I have a community interest," he says. "No question about that."

He says he is running because, "I just felt that I had something to offer with my background and experience...and I've got lots of time to do it... I just felt now was the time to do it."

Ward Two

Ward two consists of all of Dysart township outside the Village of Haliburton and portions of Dudley township.

Running in ward two in the Dysart election are Dennis Casey, Christie Cowen, and Gerald Walker. Walker is incumbent in the ward.

Casey has never run for a municipal position before. He has, however, been on the local chamber of commerce for 20 years or so, and has also sat on the provincial chamber of commerce, on a local advisory committee in Peterborough and on the central chair of a travel association. He is currently secretary for the chamber of commerce, and runs Birch Point Lodge.

He says he is running because of his "interest in the community as a whole. I wouldn't really want to say that I'm running on any specific issue. I just feel that the community as a whole here is on the verge of maybe coming out of the crawling stages and I think that there's tremendous potential here. I would like to be involved with that and be responsible and help the community grow."

Cowen was on Dysart council from 1959-1961, and worked for the municipality in the pollution control plant before his retirement. He has also worked 21 years with the county fire department.

Cowen says he is running because he has "great concerns about our environment," particularly the lakes, but says he wishes to keep his strategies to himself until the all-candidates meeting.

Walker's current term was his first on a municipal government. He has been a member of the Haliburton Rotary Club since 1984, is presently the chairman of the Haliburton-Minden Ducks Unlimited Committee, was a volunteer fire fighter in Dysart for six years, besides his other community involvements. He runs a heating and cooling business in Haliburton Village.

Walker says he is running for re-election partially because he wishes to continue working on the projects and issues he was involved with during his last term, "one of them being the sewage treatment plant. We were successful in getting that under way. It's been worked on for years and we were fortunate enough to make it happen. So now we're working on a number of projects pertaining to that... for two reasons. One is to clean up Lake Kashagawigamog which has been proven by the last ten years of studies to be deteriorating in water quality, and so we feel that the collection system will help to clean that up."

Walker also seems to have enjoyed the challenges of the office.

"We have to keep spending," says Walker. "The levels of service have to be maintained because they're expected by ratepayers and yet our provincial and federal grant money is being reduced all the time so it's a real challenge to make things work."

"It's rewarding," he continues, "because you feel like you're doing things for the community and you're trying to help. And, truly you think you are helping and you hope you are."

Ward Three

Ward three consists of the remainder of Dudley township (that portion not in ward two) and all of Harcourt township. Tom Coghlan was the only person running in ward three at the closing of nominations, and has thus been acclaimed councillor. Murray Fearrey, councillor for the ward on the outgoing council, ran unopposed for the reeve position, and has been acclaimed.

Coghlan worked for Martin Lumber for 26 years as a bush supervisor, timber cruiser and buyer until they closed down in 1990, and has been semi-retired since then.

Coghlan says he intends to deliver "fair, honest government."

"The land owners' complaint and the hospitals are probably the two top [concerns] that will have to be dealt with one way or another," says Coghlan. And I'm sure once I get in there... maybe I can give a helping hand."

Ward Four

Ward four consists of the Haliburton Lake area and part of Redstone Lake. Running in ward four are Leon Jones, William Marshall, and Ian Wood. Bob Nichol, councillor for ward four in the outgoing council, is running for the deputy reeve position.

A lifetime resident of West Guilford, Jones has 26 years experience with the Dysart roads department. He retired in 1993, and is running for office to offer his experience to the council.

"My main interest in the municipality is improving the roads," he says, "and I believe hard topping is the way to go in the future."

He says he knows the geography of the entire municipality quite well, and should be able to keep informed about decisions involving road repair.

"I support land development," he says, "but at the same time I have concerns about the environment."

He also feels Haliburton needs more industry, and wants to work towards soliciting more businesses to start operations in the industrial park.

Marshall has never run for a political office before. He has had a cottage in the area since the 70s and now lives here full time. He worked 30 years with the Toronto Fire Department, attaining the rank of director of apparatus and maintenance, and was thus responsible for a budget of approx. $5 million, which he had to defend at city hall. He has founded and served on a variety of community and sport associations, and was on the Underwriters Laboratories of Canada committee for fire apparatus standards. Locally and recently he is on a committee to beautify West Guilford, works at the bingo nights at the community centre, is president of the Stanhope Seniors, and is on the board of directors for Stanworth.

"Why I'm running in this election is I feel I have something to contribute to the community. I also would like to see some things done," he says.

Among other things, Marshall proposes that taxes be paid in four payments over the year instead of two — an idea he says comes from local business owners who have difficulty with the two larger payments currently required, due to the very slow winter season.

He also proposes measures to promote coordination between the county and the municipality on snow removal, in the interest of efficiency. "Seems like what's happening is the county trucks are driving over the township roads to get to where they have to plow and vice versa."

Marshall also says he will fight to control spending and that he would like to see "sensible control of development to save our natural resources, environment and

The all-candidates' meeting for Dysart council members will be November 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the Legion in Haliburton Village. The meeting for trustees will be November 3 at 7:30 p.m. at St. George's Church in Haliburton.

waterways. I'm not against logging," he continues, "I am against clearcutting — wrongful logging — and against industries not looking after their waste."

Wood has never run for political office before. He has originally from Aberdeen, Scotland, more recently from Montreal, where he worked for Eatons. He has also worked for Oshawa Foods as maintenance manager. Originally a cottager on Haliburton Lake, he has been living in the local area since 1989.

"My ambitions are to represent the people who I don't think have been represented for many years in this part of the world," says Wood. "And what I want to do is an honest representation of the people. The word councillor doesn't come into my vocabulary — it's mostly representation that I want to do. I think there has to be a certain amount of fairness and honesty that is projected back to the taxpayer."

"I haven't been here for a hundred years," he continues. "But I think new blood is really required. [The local government] needs an injection."

Ward Five

Ward five is the Kennis Lake area. Running in the ward are Robert Heinze, Dan Kay, and Larry Tupling. Heinze is the incumbent.

Heinze lived in Toronto most of his life. He had a cottage in the area in 1955 and moved up to the Haliburton area to live eight years ago. Having been here a while, he says, "gives me a feeling of belonging and an understanding of the issues."

He works as an independent contractor for Re-Max presently. He has experience running small businesses and has union experience in larger companies, "which gives me a better understanding of what I'm dealing with, seeing as we have both management and union involved with the municipality."

"I've been with the municipality for three years now as a councillor," says Heinze, "and it's taken me about that long to get a grasp of pretty well everything that's going on. I think roads are one of the biggest hurdles that we face right now. We have to try and get our costs down... I think council agrees that by hard topping a lot of our roads if not all of them, we get away from having to send graders out and having to spread gravel etcetera."

Heinze also spoke briefly about the North Kashagawigamog sewer extension. "Although it's a very expensive project," says Heinze, "it's a necessary evil so we can clean up the lake and keep it cleaned up. We're trying to find new ways and different ways and all the ways possible to help the people involved financially, to relieve some of the burden."

Heinze says he was also the "primary instigator" in putting in the cardboard compactor, to recycle cardboard and keep it out of the landfills, to extend their lifetimes. Overall, he says, it is a more economical solution than looking for a new landfill, and has smaller environmental impact.

Kay has never run for public office before. He runs Kay Enterprises, a windows, doors, and siding business. He has been a seasonal resident in the area since 1962 and moved in to live full-time in the Haliburton Lake area in 1990.

He says he is running for office at this time because now that the business is up and running with a well-trained staff, he has a little more time available to get involved, and because he believes he has something to offer.

Says Kay, "I believe that I can contribute business expertise, common sense and honesty. I think the municipal government needs to be run as a business — when you're dealing with everyone else's dollars and cents."

He feels road maintenance and repair are serious concerns, partially just from the point of view of safety, he says, and partially because better roads make the area more attractive for tourists. Says Kay, "Tourists are potential buyers of property, and therefore potential long-term investors in the Highlands also."

"Taxes," he continues, "should at least stay close to the rate of inflation. They're not going to go down — and that's common knowledge. For anyone who thinks taxes are going to go down, they're just not going to do it."

Kay also says he is concerned with environmental issues — water quality and the management of landfill sites.

Tupling was unavailable for an interview. The following campaign details are from a printed information package.

Tupling has been president of sports associations in Orillia and the Haliburton Lake Cottagers' Association, and has been a union steward. He has worked as a director of the Chamber of Commerce, as a member of the MNR local client advisory group, and as executive director of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association. He is part owner of Silver Eagle Resort in Eagle Lake.

Tupling says the hiring of a new engineer at the county level should be shelved and a further study should be done. He says his concerns for his ward are road maintenance and snow removal, and that he wishes to get more retired people involved at the committee level of local government.

School Board Trustees

There are six candidates running for four school board trustee positions. The candidates are George Logan, Julia Robertson, Len Salvatori, Nancy Stinson, Chip Trueman, and Wayne Wood. Salvatori, Stinson and Wood are incumbents. The fourth trustee on the outgoing board, Tim Casey, is not running for re-election.

Logan has never run for public office in this area before, though he did run for trustee when he lived in the Scarborough area. Locally he has been director of the chamber of commerce and secretary of the highland games committee. Says Logan, "I have an interest in education since now I have three kids in three different schools — one will be in Victoria Street — not there yet — and one in J.D. Hodgson and one in the high school."

He says he is concerned about curriculum, consistency in the material that's being taught, and "control as far as discipline is concerned."

He also says he is interested in the decision of the Royal Commission on Education, which will be releasing a report later this year.

Robertson has never served in an elected office before. She has worked in the Finn law office since 1967.

She's not certified as a legal clerk — doesn't feel it's necessary — "but I do most of the documents right from beginning to end, see the people, close my own deals, and I'm familiar with a lot of things in law," she says.

She has taught Sunday school since she was fourteen years old and organizes for the Girl Guide cookie fundraiser.

She says she is running for trustee because, "I have two children in the system. (One little boy has special learning disabilities. And I love children. I really care for the children and...) I think that both teachers and children deserve a fair break."

"My sister is a teacher, my aunt was a teacher. I've been affiliated with teachers most of my life because of my family... My aunt was Mrs. Kellett (a teacher at Victoria Street)... My uncle was the secretary for the public school board," she says.

"And I care for the people," she says. "I really do. I care for people and I care for the children. And I'm very approachable... and willing to learn... I'm not closing my mind."

Robertson is also concerned about children with special needs in the school system. One of her own children has what some doctors believe is a type of hearing disability which makes it difficult for him to pay attention in class. She believes she may have found a solution to his problem, and hopes to be able help other children with special needs too.

Salvatori has been a trustee for 30 years now.

"And I always had to be elected," he says. "Never could get an acclamation."

He has also been a scout leader for 30 years, and worked as contact person for the Ontario minor hockey association for around 40 years. He is manager and part owner of Curry's body shop.

"Taxes are always a problem, says Salvatori. "You try to keep a balance there. But I don't think people complain too much about spending money on education as long as we do a decent job."

"The other big problem is the province keeps cutting back our grants."

Salvatori also feels redistribution (reorganization of what school boards serve which areas) and reduction of the number of trustees are likely to be on the agenda in this area soon. "I think there's a move on," he says.

Salvatori also feels the board should move to get parents more involved in their children's education.

"It's obvious that parents should know what their children are doing in school," he says.

Salvatori also feels that the schools have to be sure that all groups of students are well-schooled in the system. He says he feels Haliburton has been working on the problem, but that it always requires some thought.

"My biggest beef of my whole life," he says, "is that general-level kids don't get a fair break."

Stinson has been on the board for 16 years now. She was born and raised in Minden and Haliburton, and works as a legal clerk at the Finn law office. She is also a guide leader and judges figure skating — "I'm just involved all around with my kids and with other peoples' kids. I just enjoy them," she says.

"I have a husband and three children," says Stinson. "They've all gone through the system. I've gone through the system."

Asked about the issues the board is facing, Stinson had the following to say:

"As far as Haliburton is concerned," she says, "it's getting the schools enlarged and better fitted. As far as the county's concerned, I would like to see more equalization of the taxes from the government... so we're not paying as much taxes... As a parent and a taxpayer I don't like what the government's doing, but as an individual and a trustee I try my best, and we work towards the betterment of education for the kids."

Trueman has never held public office previously. He runs Chip's Rental Centre in Haliburton Village. He has children in the local school system.

"One major concern I have," says Trueman, "is the increase we've seen in taxes over the last few years. I know for me personally from 1990 to 1994 I've seen my taxes increase by 38 percent. And the majority of that money went to the school board. I want to find out why and I want to try and do something to stem the tide, because it came at probably the worst time ever when people's income was either stable or going down and their expenses were taking a sharp turn up."

"The other big issue," he says, "is the closure of Victoria Street School, and therefore the addition to J.D. Hodgson Elementary School. I'd kind of like to be involved in what happens there and sort of see that project through."

"And I've got kids coming up into the system so I've got sort of a vested interest in what goes on there."

Wood has been a trustee for nine years now. He is also a Legion member and has been second and third vice-president of Branch 129. He works for Valu-Mart.

Asked why he is running, Wood says "I am interested in the education of the children of this county, and I'd like to see the standard of education stay the way it is here."

Taxes, says Wood, are always an important concern. "I just believe that we can't afford any more higher taxes," he says. "As a matter of fact I voted against the budget this year."

LONG-TERM CARE REFORM IN HALIBURTON, NORTHUMBERLAND, PETERBOROUGH AND VICTORIA COUNTIES

The Haliburton, Kawartha and Pine Ridge District Health Council (DHC) invites the general public to attend public meetings being held across the counties of Haliburton Northumberland, Peterborough and Victoria throughout November.

Council's Long-Term Care Planning and Advisory committee in each county will host the meetings to hear the views and suggestions of seniors, persons with disabilities, volunteers, employees and other interested and affected parties, on the creation of multi-service agencies (MSAs).

Ministry of Health policy and recent legislation (Bill 173, The Long-Term Care Act 1994) have put in motion the processes for changes to the community-based service system. The changes are aimed at maintaining seniors and disabled individuals in their own homes and communities and avoiding or delaying institutionalization.

The Public Meetings will ask for comment on issues such as how best to meet consumers needs for community and in-home supports, the geographic boundaries of the MSAs, how many governing boards there should be, the role of volunteers, and retaining agency identification as services integrate.

The following meetings will be held in Haliburton County:

November 8, 1994 - Royal Canadian Legion - Haliburton - 7:00 p.m. - 9:00 p.m.

November 9, 1994 - Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's Home - Minden - 2:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.

If you are unable to attend the above meetings and/or you would like more information, please feel free to call or write The Haliburton, Kawartha and Pine Ridge District Health Council, Box 544, Peterborough, Ontario, K9J 6Z6 (705) 748-2992, or Kate Reed at (705) 286-3892.

Residents share in 50th celebration

Saturday the Hyland Crest Auxiliary catered to the 50th Wedding Anniversary celebration of Ira and Wanda Carter. The auditorium was tastefully decorated by the auxiliary. There was a large turnout of friends and relatives. The residents of Hyland Crest also participated. There was a beautiful luncheon prepared by the auxiliary. Congratulations Ira and Wanda on your 50th. May you have many more.

Sunday Estella Burch came and read another chapter from our book. Many thanks Estella. Reverend Burgess took the Chapel Service Sunday evening and music was by Louise Leonard. Thank you John and Louise.

Monday morning we had fitness with Doris and in the afternoon we had Residents' Council. Dorrie McAllister is recording the minutes of the meeting now. We welcome her. We voted on donating money for the purchase of Hallowe'en Candy for the children who come to the Home for trick-or-treating.

Tuesday at 10 a.m. Chapel Service was taken by Peter Walford-Davis and Jean Cox played the organ. We thank them ever so much. Crafts were in the afternoon. O'Reilly pleased with boating season announcement

John O'Reilly, Member of Parliament for Victoria-Haliburton, is pleased with the recent announcement by the Honourable Michel Depuy, Minister of Canadian Heritage, that there will be no shortening of the boating season on the Trent-Severn Waterway System.

"I believe the Minister's announcement that the boating season will not be shortened is a great relief, not only to marina and tour operators, but others who regularly benefit from the length of the season on the Trent-Severn," O'Reilly said.

"I am also pleased the Minister said the hours of operation during the busiest summer months, and the extended hours on weekends during the spring and fall will be unchanged in 1995," Mr. O'Reilly commented.

"I attended all the public meetings regarding the Trent-Severn, and it became quite clear that people did not want a reduction in hours during the peak time," Mr. O'Reilly said. "The Minister listened and has responded positively to those concerns," O'Reilly added.

"The short-term results of this announcement are encouraging, and I look forward to working towards a long-term plan for the Trent-Severn Waterway, which is so important to the boaters, cottagers and tourism operators in Victoria-Haliburton," O'Reilly said.

Ministry of Health advises

Last opportunity for flu shots is fast approaching

For many people, getting the flu is a minor problem like the common cold. For others, especially those 65 and over, it can lead to a serious, even fatal illness.

The best time to get a flu shot is from September to November. After that, the flu season is in full swing. It begins some time in November (the actual time varies from year to year) and lasts about six months.

Prevention is the best medicine, and people can be vaccinated against the three main strains of flu germs expected to be around this winter.

About 300 people in Ontario die each year from influenza-related illnesses. The majority are over 65. In addition, the flu puts some 25,000 people in hospital every year and costs the health care system millions of dollars.

Those who are in a "high-risk" group will not have to pay for the vaccine.

High-risk groups include all people 65 and over and those of any age who have serious heart, lung or kidney disease, diabetes or cancer; are infected with HIV, are a transplant recipient, or children and teenagers (age 6 months to 18 years) who have been treated with acetylsalicylic acid (ASA) for long periods.

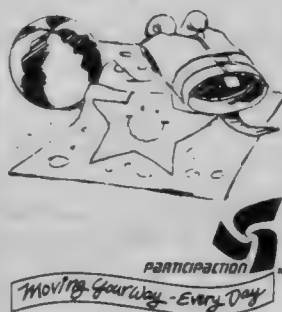

Also considered at high risk are residents and employees of Ontario's nursing homes, homes for aged and chronic care facilities.

"We are quite concerned that only about 50 per cent of seniors living at home get flu shots. We would like to increase this to 80 per cent in order to provide as much protection as possible," says Dr. Monika Naus, senior medical consultant with the Ministry of Health. "I urge every senior to ask his or her doctor about having a flu shot."

The flu vaccine does not contain live germs, and can't give a person the flu. It poses no risk to pregnant women or a fetus. However, anyone who has a severe allergy to eggs should not get a flu shot since the vaccine contains a trace of egg protein.

People in a high-risk group for flu should call their doctors or local public health units for more information.

Seeking and maintaining a spiritual link with nature

Reflections

by David Suzuki

At a meditation session for cancer patients, people who have ridden a roller coaster of hope and despair after chemotherapy, radiation and surgery spoke of "truly living" for the first time. Almost all made reference to the importance of "being in Nature", whether walking in a woods, strolling a beach or resting on a farm or at the cottage.

Infants seem drawn to an insect's movement and color, often reaching out to touch it. They exhibit neither fear nor disgust, only fascination. Yet by kindergarten, enchantment with nature somehow gives way to revulsion as many children recoil in fear or loathing at the sight of a beetle or fly.

Harvard biologist, Edward O. Wilson, believes nature's attraction for cancer patients and infants is a natural inclination. He has coined the term, biophilia (based on the Greek words for "life" and "love"), to describe what he believes is a genetically-programmed psychological need humans have for other beings. In his book, Biophilia: The Human Bond With Other Species (Harvard University Press, 1984), he defines biophilia as "the innate tendency to focus on life and life-like process." It leads to an "emotional affiliation of human beings to other living things. . . Multiple strands of emotional response are woven into symbols composing a large part of culture."

Wilson suggests the origin of biophilia lies in our evolutionary history which "began hundreds of thousands of or millions of years ago with the origin of the genus Homo. For more than 99 per cent of human history, people have lived in hunter-gatherer bands totally and intimately involved with other organisms. They depended on an exact knowledge of crucial aspects of natural history. The brain evolved in a biocentric world, not a machine-regulated world. It would be therefore quite extraordinary to find that all learning rules related to that world would have been erased in a few thousand years."

Wilson's ideas echo those of the late microbiologist, Rene Dubos: "We are shaped by the Earth. The characteristics of the environment in which we develop, condition our biological and mental being and the quality of our life."

But today, most people in industrialized countries live in urban environments in which the rich tapestry of other living things has been drastically reduced. Wilson believes: "The biophilic learning rules are not replaced by modern versions equally well adapted to artifacts. Instead, they persist from generation to generation, atrophied and fitfully manifested in the artificial new environments into which technology has catapulted humanity. For the indefinite future, more children and adults will continue, as they do now, to visit zoos than to attend all major sports combined."

The notion of biophilia provides a conceptual framework through which human behavior can be examined and evolutionary mechanisms suggested. "The Biophilia Hypothesis" (Island Press, Washington 1993), edited by Stephen R. Kellert and Wilson, compiles articles examining biophilia and its implications. The papers add up to strong support for the theory.

For example, architecture professor, Roger S. Ulrich reports that "a consistent finding in well over 100 studies of recreation experiences in wilderness and urban natural areas has been that stress mitigation is one of the most important verbally expressed perceived benefits."

Yale Professor Kellert says: The biophilia hypothesis proclaims a human dependence on nature that extends far beyond the simple issues of material and physical sustenance to encompass as well the human craving for aesthetic, intellectual, cognitive and even spiritual meaning and satisfaction...a scientific claim of human NEED...for deep and intimate association with the natural environment. The degradation of this human dependence on nature brings the increased likelihood of a deprived and diminished existence. Much of the human search for a coherent and fulfilling existence is intimately dependent upon our relationship to nature."

To Kellert, our need for nature makes evolutionary sense: "Discovery and exploration of living diversity undoubtedly facilitated the acquisition of increased knowledge and understanding of the natural world, and such information almost certainly conferred distinctive advantages in the course of human evolution."

In the end, Wilson believes biophilia adds a spiritual dimension: "The more we know of other forms of life, the more we enjoy and respect ourselves. Humanity is exalted not because we are so far above other living creatures but because knowing them well elevates the very concept of life."

Just a note to let everyone know what a great friend, neighbour and helper Ada Lewis was. She helped when we set up the New County Library System and when I became acting librarian. Certainly she retired from this, but then went on with volunteer service at Hyland Crest when she and her husband moved there. A pleasant person who finally left her friends and relatives after a long and rewarding lifetime. Farewell my very good friend.

Recent guests with Chic and Marion Minaker were Barry and Mary Wood and family of Markham, and Nell Kerr and Betty Kendall of Newmarket.

We learned for you readers at Snowdon Library that their hours are now Tuesdays from 6:30-7:30 p.m. and they have a good selection of great reading for those colder evenings.

Ladies having birthdays in November at Hyland Crest are Ellen Blair on November 5, Vera Barnhart on November 14, Mary McKelvey on November 24 and Lillian Tompkins on November 26. Perhaps you might like to remember them on their special day. There were no gentlemen on my list for this month.

* * *

I had the pleasure of being delegate for Minden W.I. at Area Convention at Howard Johnson, Toronto, among the over 200 ladies present. With great service, good speakers, good meals and exchange of ideas and pleasant company. Many thanks to all the people who saw that I arrived safely, both going and coming home.
